Path to Publish

In case you missed it, The American Journal of Pathology is happy to announce an increase in impact factor for 2017. AJP has an impact factor of 4.069, which is a slight increase over the previous 4.057. The 5-year impact factor for AJP is 4.583. Our submissions this year have continued into increase- please consider submitting your work today! Submissions can be started in Evise and the staff in the editorial office is always available to help: ajp@asip.org.

Editor's Choice

- c-Cbl Expression Correlates with Human Colorectal Cancer Survival and Its Wnt/β-Catenin Suppressor Function Is Regulated by Tyr371 Phosphorylation

ASIP Member Publications

- Hepatocyte-Derived Lipocalin 2 Is a Potential Serum Biomarker Reflecting Tumor Burden in Hepatoblastoma
- Hepatic Knockdown of Splicing Regulator Slu7 Ameliorates Inflammation and Attenuates Liver Injury in Ethanol-Fed Mice
- Impaired Fasting-Induced Adaptive Lipid Droplet Biogenesis in Liver-Specific Atg5-Deficient Mouse Liver Is Mediated by Persistent Nuclear Factor-Like 2 Activation

AJP in the News

- Traumatic brain injury biomarker shows promise to support rapid damage evaluation and predict outcomes

---

Did you know...

Registration for the 2018 PISA Meeting [link to: http://pisa2018.org/] is now open! Hosted by Program Chair, and AJP Associate Editor, Charles Parkos, the 2018 meeting will be held October 20-22 at the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor.

The preliminary program and registration information are available online.

Abstract submission is still open for poster presentation only. Abstracts accepted ahead of the earlier deadline will appear in the October issue of AJP and be available online and in print at the meeting!

---------

The American Journal of Pathology mourns the loss of longtime Associate Editor, Editorial Board Member, and ASIP member, Dr. Herbert Tanowitz (Albert Einstein College of Medicine) who passed away July 17th. Dr. Tanowitz served the journal in an Editor capacity for 6 years, and continued to serve as an editorial board member and reviewer after his Editor appointments were completed. His participation and support of the Journal will be missed.
This is also an Editor's Choice article, FREE to all readers!

Manuscript Prep

The American Journal of Pathology no longer has separate publication charges for each individual figure. Authors should take care to compose their images so that all of the text and labels are legible to a reader in print. Also, don’t forget that the cover image comes directly from an article in the issue, so submit your interesting images for a chance to be featured on the front of the issue!

Social Media

If you haven't already, join our almost 3,000 followers on Facebook to stay up to date on new article releases, free content, calls for papers, and ASIP meeting and education content. We are also on Twitter and LinkedIn.

Copyright 2002 - 2018, The American Journal of Pathology (AJP)
1801 Rockville Pike, Suite 350, Rockville, MD 20852 (USA)
Tel: +1 240 283 9700 | Fax: +1 240 283 9710 | Email: ajp@asip.org | www.asip.org