In Memoriam

The staff and editors at The American Journal of Pathology recognize the service and dedication of Associate Editor Dr. Andrew Lackner, who passed away unexpectedly earlier this year after a brief illness. Dr. Lackner was a longtime member of ASIP and served as an AJP Associate Editor for almost 15 years, handling manuscript related to HIV and AIDS, infectious disease, virology, neuroimmunology, neuropathology, and the central nervous system.

Dr. Lackner also served as the director of the Tulane National Primate Research Center.
